

Statement on Open Expression Policy Violations

WHEREAS the Emory University Senate's Committee for Open Expression has found that the School of Medicine has violated Emory's Open Expression Policy 8.14 on at least three different occasions, the University Senate calls on Interim President Sears and the leadership of all units, including the School of Medicine, to follow university policies, namely open expression policy 8.14, and to reconsider in light of the policy recent disciplinary actions against faculty and students.